

Make it rain.^[1]

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

filler

To install Antora, open a terminal and type:

```
$ npm i -g @antora/cli@2.2 @antora/site-generator-default@2.2
```

The `@` at the beginning of the package name is important. It tells `npm` that the `cli` package is located in the `antora` group. If you omit this character, `npm` will assume the package name is the name of a git repository on GitHub. The second `@` offsets the requested version number.^[2] Only the major and minor segments are specified to ensure you receive the latest patch update.

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

filler inside open block

Make it snow.^[3]

[1] money

[2] Clarification about this statement.

[3] dollar bills